Schlumberger Magazine Features Harrisburg, Area

SCHLUMBERGER, the well surveying corporation that operates all over and which has an office in Harrisburg, publishes a magazine for its personnel down at Houston, Texas, which is called Sonde Off.

And Sonde Off in its September issue sounds off about Harrisburg in a very complimentary manner.

In fact, the 22-page slick paper periodical features our city, with a lot of pictures of Harrisburg and surrounding area used in a comprehensive story.

The outer cover carries a full page picture of the Old Stone Face, photographed by John Foster of Harrisburg. Description says: "Eight miles south of Harrisburg, Illinois, in the Illinois Ozarks, this lifelike Old Stone Face gazes from a limestone bluff toward the rich farmlands of 'Egypt,' a famous section of Illinois."

Pictures accompanying the article show an aerial view of Harrisburg, a map of Illinois locating Harrisburg, Schlumberger men helping sandbag the levee during the high waters in May, the high school, Methodist church, court house, oil well drilling, Sahara strip mining, a residential street, Burden Falls, an old iron furnace, the cave at Cave-in-Rock and the cave at Cave Hill, the Schlumberger building and its 11 employees here.

The story, which gives the history of Harrisburg, says the following after telling about the personnel helping at the levee:

"Schlumberger men in Harrisburg felt that helping out on the dike was just part of doing their duty as responsible citizens. But, it was also a way to help repay the city for a heart-warming welcome given when W. P. Baker established SWSC in Harrisburg in June, 1955.

"As Bill Beazley, the Location's present manager, observes, 'they treated us like visiting royalty.'

"The new citizens found Harrisburg to be an extremely clean, handsome city of 11,500 people where friendly folks will go out of their way to help a newcomer and make him feel at home. They were particularly impressed with Harrisburg's fine schools and the strength and influence of the churches."

The article quotes Joe McGuire as saying:

"You aren't a citizen of Harrisburg until you belong to a church and take an active part in its work."

A half dozen paragraphs are devoted to the natural beauty in the area and its development. Then it takes up oil and quotes Manager Beazley as saying:

"We feel sure there is lots of oil here, perhaps even another Eldorado. But in this part of Illinois it's tough to find. Geophysical aids such as seismicograph studies are of little use here for the fields are all of the stratigraphic trap variety where oil is trapped by reduced porosity in the producing zone rather than by the shape of the structure. Strat traps don't show up on time maps. Instead, geologists follow the trends, or patterns of occurrence of fields, as a means of spotting wells. Electric logs are invaluable aids in predicting such trends. Consequently, every well in Illinois Basin has been surveyed and the logs on each one are made available for general use.

"At best, however, such a system provides geologists little more than an educated guess as to where their next producer might be found. It takes a lot of wildcatting to find oil here.

Three Indicted By Grand Jury

Three men were indicted Monday by the grand jury for the September term of Saline county court.

They were: Austin E. Jones and Marshall L. Mimms, both of Princeton, Ind., indicted on burglary and larceny charges in connection with the break-ins of a service station and restaurant on Route 45, Eldorado, June 22;

Clyde King of Eldorado, indicted on charges of assault with intent to murder and assault with a deadly weapon. He is charged with firing a gun at his wife, Fern, as she left their home in a taxi cab Aug. 13.

BLOCK ENTRANCE—Three of six negroes who tried to enter Central, a high school in North Little Rock, Ark., are shown here as they talk to reporters. They were turned back by the principal and students who had formed a human barricade. The Rev. F. D. Gibson, shown here, said they will try to enter the school again. (NEA Telephoto)

Dulles Sees Peaceful Solution in Mid East

Sheriff Warns Boys Against Playing with Dynamite, Blasting Caps

Sheriff William T. Barrett today warned boys and their parents about the dangers of dynamite and blasting caps, after some were turned in to his office Monday by a mother.

The woman said her son had found the dynamite, with wire and blasting caps attached. Further investigation revealed some boys had picked up some of the explosives at a stripping operation.

"Playing with these explosives could prove to be tragic," the sheriff said. "Parents finding them should notify the sheriff's office."

City Schools Enrollment One Less Than 1956

Enrollment in the Harrisburg City schools at the end of the first week was just one short of the same period last year. Actually this represents a loss in attendance of 37, since there are 36 students living in the East Leford and Rocky Branch areas which were annexed to the Harrisburg district during the summer.

The enrollment, however, is above expectations, since a preliminary survey made during the summer had indicated a considerable loss in enrollment, even considering the new territory annexed.

Enrollment by schools: McKinley 421, Horace Mann 381, Logan 207, Bayliss 110, Dorris Heights 52, Junior High 340. In reporting the enrollment figures to the school board Monday evening, Superintendent Russell Malan stated that the school year has started favorably. He said there are still some adjustments to be made, as is customary each year, but on the whole the situation is pleasing.

Secretary Rules Out Use of Force Unless Situation Becomes Worse

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he believes the crisis in Syria will be settled peacefully.

Dulles emphasized that the United States does not favor peace at any price, and is ready to act, if necessary, to meet Russia's efforts to undermine the independence of Middle Eastern states.

He spoke as major elements of the powerful U. S. 6th Fleet patrolled the "east-central Mediterranean" and jet fighters and other arms were being sent to several Middle East countries.

Administration officials said the U. S. plane deliveries are in various stages. A dozen speedy F86 Sabrejets already have been flown into Saudi Arabia.

Doubts Syria Aggression
Dulles, at a news conference, virtually ruled out the use of armed force by this country under the Eisenhower Doctrine—unless the situation becomes much worse.

He said he does not believe there will be outright aggression by Syria. Should it occur, he added, it could be dealt with by nations in the area.

Dulles said this is the way he sees the situation today. That events could happen which would change the picture completely.

Dulles said many people—apparently including the secretary himself—would agree with a Sept. 2 statement by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru that the Middle East situation is dangerous and explosive. Dulles said he did not believe there is any reason to take issue with Nehru's assessment.

Take Situation Seriously
Dulles said in his opinion the NELSON EDDINGS, 511 South Jackson street, Harrisburg, has accepted a position on the faculty of the Galatia Community high school. Mr. Eddings, a 1957 graduate of Blackburn college, will teach sophomore, junior and senior English. At Blackburn he majored in English and has minors in French and social science. Eddings, son of Mrs. Alma Sullivan, graduated from HTHS in 1953.

situation will be worked out peacefully.

One basis for this judgment, he said, is that the United States is taking the situation seriously, is doing something about it, and therefore a peaceful solution is likely to be found.

If the United States did nothing in the face of present problems, he said, there would be great likelihood that a war could develop.

Dulles in discussing possible use of force by this country, pointed out that the Eisenhower Doctrine is hinged on three things: There must be aggression; it must be determined that the aggression is controlled by international communism and the states attacked request U. S. help.

Dulles said he did not believe it likely that these three things will occur. For one thing, he said, the United States has not determined that Syria is under the domination of international communism.

As things now stand, he concluded, it would be academic to decide that the United States should intervene under the doctrine.

Dulles rejected suggestions that the United States might reach some "hands off" agreement with Russia as far as the Middle East is concerned. He said this country is skeptical about arrangements with Russia because they are apt to mean hands off for the United States while Soviet hands are under the table.

The secretary said that the United States does not believe the American arms being shipped to Jordan and other Arab countries will be used against Israel.

If they were, this country would be put in the paradoxical position of coming to the aid of Israel against a recipient of American military aid.

Sahara Provides 60 Scholarships in Forestry at SIU

Sixty forestry scholarships, each covering tuition and fees for one year, have been made available to Southern Illinois students by the Sahara Coal company, Chicago, John F. Hosner, SIU forestry specialist, said today.

Hosner pointed out that the coal firm has provided the scholarships to help students interested in forestry careers because of a present active demand for trained foresters. The company's action was announced by Henry C. Woods, chairman of Sahara's board of directors.

Ten of the scholarships will be awarded to qualified students in the 1957 fall term, Hosner said. The series of grants will extend over four years and will be administered by the SIU Scholarships and Loans Committee.

To qualify for one of the scholarships an entering freshman must have graduated in the upper one-half of his high school class. Students previously enrolled in college must have at least a "C" grade average. Those interested in forestry as a career and meeting the requirements may apply for one of the grants by contacting Hosner immediately at the SIU School of Agriculture, Department of Plant Industry, Carbondale.

Gov't Asks Injunction In Arkansas School Dispute

Explosion Rips School in Nashville, Tenn.

Mob of 500 Hurls Rocks, Threats in Earlier Incident

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An explosion early today ripped the Hatie Cotton School, where one Negro student attended Monday in Nashville's violence-marred trial of first-grade integration.

Police said the blast went off at about 2:45 a. m., e. d. t., at the 400-pupil school on Nashville's East Side.

The building was "pretty badly damaged," investigators said. The cause of the explosion was not determined.

The school is several miles from the Fehr School, where rock-throwing and noisy picketing continued through the day and into the night. About 25 parents remained at Fehr until late Monday night, and police kept an overnight watch at this and other schools affected by this first step in grade-by-grade integration.

Hit By Rocks
At Fehr the crowd swelled to 500, throwing rocks and shouting threats. A policeman termed the group the "worst mob" he ever had seen.

Nineteen Negro first graders attended seven previously white schools Monday, touching off the incidents. One who was registered did not attend.

Three persons were hit by rocks Monday night as demonstrations at Fehr School continued until about 11:30 p. m. e. d. t. The three, a Negro mother, a passing Negro woman driver and a police inspector, were hit only slightly. Two persons were arrested.

While this latest demonstration was going on, segregationist John Kasper spoke at a noisy meeting in the downtown section, with about 500 persons gathered to hear him. Earlier the White Citizens Council leader had supervised activities at Fehr.

Rope In Hands

Kasper held a rope as he spoke on the steps of the War Memorial Building. Later he made another address from the state Capitol steps nearby, saying he intended to carry on the fight "even if they get an injunction."

Police broke up the rowdy crowd at Fehr after keeping a close watch on the Kasper rally.

There are twenty candidates for the board of education of the recently approved Community Unit School district, which includes Galatia and Tate townships and parts of Long Branch, Brushy and Raleigh townships.

The election will be held Saturday, Sept. 28, with the polls open from 12 o'clock noon to 7 p. m.

The state law provides that not more than three members of the seven-member Board of Education may be elected from any one township.

The candidates: Galatia township—John Boyett, Terry Fowler, Walter Russell, Jesse Higgins, Arthur A. Hill, Ralph Wallace, Ewell Harris, Virdon Garrett, Charles K. Conwell, Kenneth Malone and James Eatherly; Brushy township—Joe Small, Paul Drott, Robbie Hankins, W. B. Pulliam and James Richey; Tate township—Thomas H. Weight;

Former Shawneetown-Ridgway Resident Dies at Waukegan

Raymond Butts, 38, who formerly lived in the Shawneetown-Ridgway community, more recently a resident of Waukegan, died in a Waukegan hospital, Monday night. The body will be received by the Cox funeral home in Ridgway tonight, and funeral plans will be announced, later.

459 Students Enrolled in Galatia Schools

There are 459 students enrolled in the Galatia schools, with 271 in the elementary grades and 188 at the high school.

An unusual feature of the high school enrollment is that there are an equal number of boys and girls—94 each.

The enrollment, by classes, as revealed by Principal Jack Large, seniors 50, juniors 40, sophomores 53, and freshmen 45.

N. R. Gullie, grade school principal, announced the enrollment by grades as follows: first 38, second 31, third 29, fourth 38, fifth 28, sixth 33, seventh 37 and eighth 37.

Mr. Gullie stated the grade school was still without a music instructor and any qualified person, interested in the job, may contact him at the grade school office.

SIU Assigns 3 Student Teachers In City Schools

The Harrisburg City school system has been designated as a practice teaching center for students in education at Southern Illinois University, and three student teachers are now assigned.

Grant Mings of Raleigh is at the Junior High school, under sponsorship of Mary F. Jelliffe; Carol Wilson is at the Horace Mann second grade under sponsorship of Callie Morris; and Letitia Skaggs is at McKinley first grade under sponsorship of Genevieve Richmond. All are natives of this area.

A specified amount of practice teaching is required before SIU students in education receive their degree. The three student teachers will remain in Harrisburg until the end of the first quarter at SIU, when others likely will be assigned here.

For the first month the students observe classroom teaching, then they take over the actual duties, but only in the presence of the regular class room teachers. On this basis there is no lack of adequate teaching of the children.

Herman Bentley, 65, Of Leamington Dies

Herman Bentley, 65, of the Leamington community, died in the Pearce hospital at Eldorado, Monday afternoon. The body is in the care of the Wright funeral home in Shawneetown.

Funeral services will be held Thursday 2 p. m. at the Leamington Social Brethren church with the Rev. Elmer Grisham and the Rev. E. F. Walters officiating. Burial will be in the Leamington cemetery.

Mr. Bentley was the father of Mrs. Clifford Potter, Harrisburg RFD 2, and the brother of Mrs. Hubert Vinyard and Mrs. Elvie Vinyard, both of Harrisburg, and Mrs. Millie Benham of Leamington. He also is survived by his wife.

Hearing Sept. 20 on Justice Dep't Petition; Marshals To Serve Notice on Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The federal government's patience ran out on Gov. Orval E. Faubus today and the Justice Department filed an injunction petition against him for his continued defiance of school integration orders.

A hearing on the petition was set for Sept. 20 and U. S. marshals were ordered to immediately serve notice of the action on Faubus and two co-defendants.

The petition, which could eventually bring Faubus into open court, was requested Monday by U. S. District Judge Ronald A. Davies. The judge is expected to issue an order in the case soon.

The action, which must travel through legal court processes, came too late to give Negroes a chance to enroll in a controversial high school here this semester.

The Justice Department asked for both temporary and permanent injunctions against Faubus, Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, state adjutant general who is commander of the National Guard, and Lt. Col. Marion T. Johnson, unit commander of Guard troops Faubus has used to prevent integration of Central High School.

Faubus, who claims his action was taken to preserve the peace and prevent violence, has not disclosed whether he will willingly accept a subpoena from the government.

The Justice Department petition did not request a temporary restraining order against the governor, apparently dismissing the chance for an early court showdown between the government and the Arkansas state officials.

Tension Drops

Davies was expected to set a hearing date for sometime next week on the government's petition.

With the filing of court action, tension at the schools involved went down like a thermometer in a tub of ice. It was almost like a normal day at North Little Rock High, after a brief period of tension at the school where six Negro students were enrolled.

Five Wells Under Test

Fitch Brothers' Ethel Abney No. 1, SW SW NW, 29-75-5e (Brushy) was on pump testing the Aux Vases line.

Robison Oil's Thompson No. 1, NE NE NE, 30-85-6e (Raleigh) was on pump testing the Aux Vases.

grees tried to enroll Monday, and at Little Rock's Central High.

There were these other developments in the integration picture:

Nashville — Segregationists set off a dynamite blast at the Hatie Cotton School, where a Negro attended a first-grade class for the first time.

Alexandria, Va. — The NAACP requested federal Judge Albert V. Byran to enforce his integration ruling at schools in Arlington County, Va., where eight Negro children were turned away last week under the state's "placement" act.

Birmingham — An anti-integration patrol attacked a Negro minister attempting to enroll Negro children at a high school.

Dallas — A federal judge signed an order directing the Dallas independent school district to integrate at mid-term.

Boston — Gov. Foster Furcolo suggested that a bi-partisan group of state governors attempt to settle the dispute in Little Rock. Faubus accepted the proposal.

U. S. Charges Repressive Acts in Hungary

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States today accused Russia of unending repression and denial of liberty in Hungary.

Along with 35 other countries, the U. S. demanded a new United Nations condemnation of the Soviet Union for its brutal suppression of last year's Hungarian revolt.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told a special session of the U. N. General Assembly that "repressive measures and denials of liberty have been visited upon the Hungarian people ever since the events of October and November by the regime which Soviet military power still maintains in Hungary."

He said Russia now has 68,000 troops in Hungary, compared with only 25,000 before the October revolt. He reported a list of 1,768 individuals compiled by the United States, against whom the Hungarian authorities have taken punitive action for their part in last fall's uprising.

Warns Against Despair
Basing his remarks on information from Hungarian Communist sources, Lodge said the death penalty had been instituted against striking workers, Soviet plunder had been made a matter of state secrecy, promises of multi-party politics and free elections had been pigeonholed and freedom of religion and of writers and artists had been abandoned.

Lodge told the assembly: "The greatest danger we face in this difficult and tragic matter is that we will give in to despair. The most necessary quality for us, therefore, is steadfastness."

"We know what is right. Although there is considerable physical power behind the thing which is wrong, those who wield that power are human beings who can be brought to change their minds."

Peter Mod, ambassador of the Budapest regime, sought to cut off the debate at the outset with a demand that the assembly strike "the so-called Hungarian question from the agenda."

Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev supported Mod, charging that the United States was "raising a hubbalooboo" about the Hungarian question just before the start of the regular assembly session to create "an atmosphere of cold war."

Hoffa's Huffa and Puffa

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

James Hoffa, vice president of the powerful Teamsters Union, evidently was strongly determined to make a better public impression than did other Teamster officials under fire from the Senate committee investigating racketeers.

But it is now fair to say that in this effort he failed.

When Hoffa began his appearances before the McClellan committee in Washington, he was confident to the point of cockiness.
He gave friendly, direct answers to a long series of questions which were not without embarrassment for him.

For instance, he had to acknowledge he had been arrested 17 times, though convicted only thrice for minor offenses. He conceded, too, that he had repaid only $70,000 of $120,000 borrowed interest-free from union officials.
Teamster locals and various businessmen.

But Hoffa's self-assurance began to drain away when the committee turned to accounts of his dealings with Johnny Dio of New York, known racketeer and convicted extortionist.

Hoffa admitted to knowing Dio.
But as the committee played recorded transcripts of various tapped telephone conversations between Hoffa and Dio, the Teamster vice president found himself afflicted with sudden, acute loss of memory.

Though these conversations dealt with specific matters relating to union manipulations, and some were recorded only two months ago, Hoffa professed to the committee that hearing them played back gave him not the slightest inkling what was under discussion.

The committee found this so incredible that it is turning over Hoffa's testimony to the Justice department for possible prosecution on perjury charges.

The chances are that most Americans will be equally unbelieving.

They are likely to conclude that Hoffa, without taking the Fifth amendment, tried to get the same result. While never quite striking an uncooperative attitude, he told the committee nothing of his links with Dio.

To achieve this great blank, he pleaded faulty memory 111 times one day and almost a many the following day.

If this was not contrived amnesia, then Hoffa would seem to have the weakest memory of any public figure in recent decades.
Is this the man the Teamsters intend to elect their president next month?

One wonders how he will be able to remember where his office is.

cows or horses are called mecate.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Extended Voting Hours Will Be Used First Time in Chicago Primary

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special) —
First use of Illinois' new voting hours will be in a special primary, set for Nov. 13 in Chicago's 7th Congressional district where there is a vacancy due to the recent death of Cong. James B. Bowler, D., Chicago. Voting hours were extended to 12 hours—6 a. m. to 6 p. m.—by the recent General Assembly. Polls formerly closed at 5 p. m.

The special election will be held
Dec. 31 and could cut into early New Year's eve celebrating as tavern and bars and other places selling alcoholic drinks cannot open under state laws until 6 p. m., when the polls close. State Sen. Roland V. Libonati, D., Chicago, is seeking the vacancy and as the district is normally two to one Democratic, he is expected to be an easy winner.

Statewide use of the extended voting hours will be applied for the first time in next April's general primary when Republicans and Democrats will nominate candidates for state treasurer and State Superintendent of Public Instruction, for state senator in the odd numbered districts, for state representative and for district congress as well as for various county offices.

Another new wrinkle is that there will be fewer officials at polling places. The legislature eliminated the customary three clerks and three judges and substituted five judges. This is expected to reduce the number of destroyed ballots. Heretofore clerks have mistakenly initialed ballots, a Judge's function. It can't happen now as the only polling officials will be judges.

County chairmen of the two major political parties are required to file a list of three persons nominated to serve as precinct judges with actual selection by the county board of supervisors. Three of the five judges are to be named from the political party which casts the highest vote for governor in a particular precinct with the other two judges coming from the minority party in that precinct.

Higher pay for polling judges also is a possibility. The General Assembly changed the law to permit county boards to increase the pay range of $5 to $16 a day for two days' work to $25 for a single day. It also requires judges to be skilled in subtraction, multiplication, addition and division as well as require them to speak the "English" language and read and write it.

The business of baby sitting has been placed under regulation and licensing by the State Welfare Department. Under legislation passed by the recent 70th General Assembly, persons who use their own homes to take care of children not related to them must apply to the department for a license and submit to investigation to determine they meet certain minimum standards for care of other people's children.

Unless licensed they are also prohibited from running newspaper advertisements which offer their homes for day care of babies. Violation of the law is punishable by a fine of $1,000 and a year in jail. The law does not apply to the individual baby sitter who goes to the parents' home while the folks enjoy an evening news service. In accepting the award "Sully" gave credit to members of Marquette's journalism faculty and called on 25 Marquette journalism graduates to stand and share in the tribute.

A much earlier-than-usual start at Republican slate-making for Illinois 1958 off-year election is seen in a reported suggestion by Gov.
William G. Stratton. It is interpreted by observers as meaning the Governor has changed his position and will welcome a state ticket whereas in 1954 he kept his hands off races for the GOP nomination for U. S. Senator and state treasurer.

The governor is understood to be urging that slate-making get under way this month so that support of a ticket may be agreed on by early November rather than wait until January and February. He is quoted as saying that a "dozen" potential aspirants for treasurer have already called on him to discuss their prospects.
Incumbent Treasurer Elmer J.
Hoffman, Wheaton, is barred from succeeding himself.

Three possible candidates for the treasurer nomination have

"FIELD OF THUNDER"—That's the Australian natives' word for the Maralinga Proving Ground where Britain will open a series of atomic tests Sept. 12. Newsmap spots the test site with bomb burst. The British are keeping Christmas Island in the Central Pacific—scene of their most recent tests—in readiness for use.
This move may be a sign that London is convinced no agreement will be reached in the current five-power disarmament conference.

Miss Retta June Durfee, Walter Odum Wed at First Apostolic Church

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Odum
(Portrait by Ronnie's)

Miss Retta June Durfee, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Durfee, 441 West Church street, and Walter Odum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Odum, 117 West O'Gara street, were married in the First Apostolic church of Harrisburg in a candlelight service on Aug. 16. The Rev. Louis Durfee, father of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar, draped in white and decorated with baskets of white gladioli. The wedding arch was entwined with greenery holding tiny white chrysanthemums.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Louis Durfee Jr., Mt. Carmel. The bride wore a wedding gown of imported lace and net over white taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a ballerina skirt. The long sleeves were pointed at the hands. Her fingertip length veil of nylon net, edged with lace, was secured to her headdress of lace, edged with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible and a white orchid, encircled with tuberoses.

Miss Jeanette Greer, friend of the bride, served as her maid of honor and wore a dress of white nylon over pale blue taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice and a full skirt. Her headdress was a white band, trimmed with miniature white flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Joe Odum, brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man. Ushers for the wedding were Bob Chester and Larry Durfee.

Miss Sue Shockley, organist, played the wedding marches and accompanied Miss Betty Shockley, who sang, "Because" and "O Promise Me." The bride's mother chose a navy blue dress and white accessories.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whittier are parents of a boy, born at the Ferrell hospital in Eldorado, Aug. 30. The baby has been named Earl Mark and weighed seven pounds, 6 1/2 ounces at birth. The mother of the child is the former Miss Fayette Oglesby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Oglesby, 927 South McKinley avenue, Harrisburg.

for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

There was a reception in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the wedding. The bride's table was lace covered and the three tiered wedding cake held the place of honor. Hostesses were Mrs. Louis Durfee Jr., Mrs. Loren Williams and Mrs. Don Stover. Miss Pat Durfee kept the guest book.

The bride was graduated from HTHS, class of 1932, and from the Alton Memorial hospital school of nursing, 1935. She is employed at the Pearce hospital foundation at Eldorado.

Mr. Odum was graduated from HTHS, class of 1950, and from the Southern Illinois Technical Institute, 1956. He does equipment installation for the General Telephone Company.

Dr. Frank L. Klingsberg Addresses Women's Club

Dr. Frank L. Klingsberg, professor of government at SIU, addressed the Harrisburg Women's club in its first fall meeting in the public library, Monday. Other features of the meeting were the piano solo of Linda Skaggs and the vocal solo of Phillip Kane, accompanied by John L. Schork of the HTHS music department.

Mrs. W. W. Damron, newly elected president, opened the meeting with a speech of welcome and hope for a most constructive year and conducted the club business. Following the pledge of allegiance to the flag, led by Mrs. E. B. Webster in the absence of Mrs. L. M. Hancock, the special music was presented.

Mrs. L. I. Webb, in her meditation, spoke of the spiritual freedom of America, appropriate to the day's program on "International Relations."

Mrs. C. L. Travis and Mrs. W. E. Pankey were hostesses for the meeting and the refreshment committee were: Chairman, Mrs. J. Klein; Mrs. Ray Johnson, Mrs. Royce Cline, Mrs. Otto Arensman, Mrs. F. M. Russler and Mrs. J. V. Capel.

Dr. Klingsberg in speaking of the U. S. Foreign policy, showed a rare quality of optimism, based on a complete realism and awareness of the dangers, which he translates into challenges to our government in its relations to the other nations of the world. His confidence in the successful outcome of the world conferences, and organizations such as the United Nations and NATO, to solve our complex problems, lies in a firm belief that the U. S., by virtue of its heritage of spiritual strength, high productive ability and confidence in her self reliance, will surely bring about a peaceful world.

Right might, is a principal to which he believes that this nation is dedicated. Expressed in the Constitution of the United States and preserved by the freedom of the people to elect and demand good government from its rulers.

Mr. Klingsberg was introduced by Mrs. J. W. Myers, program chairman. Mrs. Hugh Walker, recording secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved. Mrs. Ed Creek, corresponding secretary, read the correspondence and Mrs. Roscoe Metcalf, treasurer, made a report.

Bettag said collections during the four-year period July 1, 1953-June 30, 1957, totaled $17,985,777, of which $15,959,187 represented payments for patients in the state hospitals and $2,026,590 for residents in the schools for the mentally retarded.

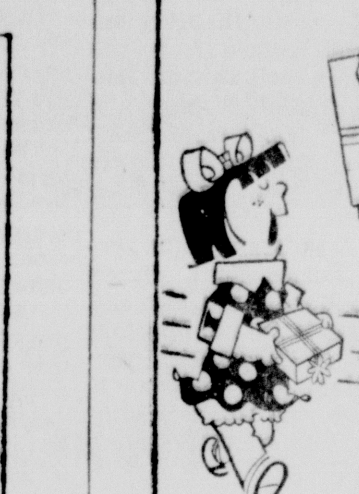

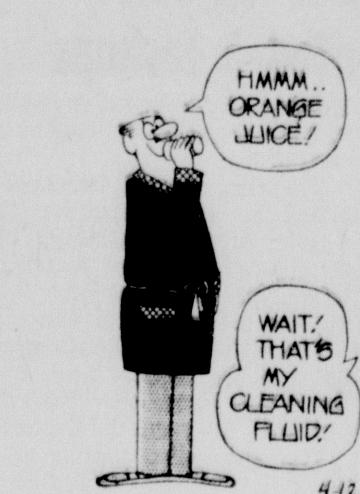

Expenditures for the four-year period, including allocations made for 1955-57, totaled $18,886,952, the director reported.

Thinking
It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

The various pension plans which exist in the nation have done much to relieve older people of the fear of hunger and physical suffering when they are no longer able to work. Retirement pay has created a sense of self-confidence on the part of folk who have spent many years working in our land of basically high standards of comfort and health.

There is a security which is needed more than financial security. If we can find security in God we shall have a confidence both in peace on earth and in eternal life. Spiritual security supplies one with a never-ending supply of love and faith.

Through prayer we receive our payments in this higher security.

God pays benefits in satisfaction and confidence which far surpass any material needs which beset us. Money alone cannot make one secure in his later years.

'Laff-O-Rama' at Bonnell Gym Wednesday, Thursday Is New Concept in Entertainment

"Laff-O-Rama" is a new concept, a new approach and medium for presenting entertainment "of" the community, "for" the community and "by" the community. It is an event in which there is a collaboration between home town non-professional talent and the recorded talent of professionals who are at the top of the ladder in show business.

Although residents of Harrisburg will participate in phases of it, through the modern miracles of recordings and sound amplification, it is possible to use the greatest talent in the professional field of bands and orchestras, as well as the voices of renowned choral groups and individual singing stars and this assures a smoothness of production which is evident only in award winning performances of stage and screen.

This new achievement of synchronizing the community players' abilities with the best the theater world has to offer will result in a home town circus of thirteen acts produced in the arena of Bonnell gymnasium on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The event is being sponsored by the Harrisburg Lions club for the benefit of the Harrisburg town park picnic shelter construction.

One of the most colorful and outstanding numbers features a unique teen age ballet in which the girls wear pastel party frocks and do a routine using many multi-colored balloons. The number is climaxed by the use of the circus carousel, or merry-go-round effect, gained from the use of bright colored streamers and special lighting effects.

An act in the "Laff-O-Rama" lineup that always is a spectacular hit is one in which twelve boys dressed in bright red satin jackets trimmed with black and white stripes whizz around the arena on bicycles which are colorfully decorated. They do a routine which is professionally planned and as they whirl past to execute the complicated maneuvers of the routine, the spectators witness an act they will long remember. "The Bicycle Boys from Bolivia" is the billing for this act.

Variety is the keynote of the entire "Laff-O-Rama" circus and in the list of acts one that is a universal favorite comes from the realm of make believe and fantasy for it is "Goldlocks and the Three Bears," taken from Story Bookland, and brought to life in the center ring, to delight all those who are "young at heart." The part of the Papa Bear will be performed by Eunice Hood, Mama Bear will be Marsha McGuire and the Baby Bear is Debbie Slightom and the part of Goldlocks is portrayed by Mary Ann Slightom. It has often been said that this number alone is well worth the price of admission.

Daughter Left Out of Father's $2 Million Estate

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Mrs. James Simms, Columbus, Ind., said today that what her deceased father wished done with his money was his business but she could not explain why she was left out of his will.

Mrs. Simms' father, William H. Cooke, 53, died Aug. 28, leaving an estate estimated at two million dollars. He was head of several coal mining companies.

His will, filed recently in Cook County Probate Court, left $91,000 in specific bequests, half the remaining estate to another daughter, Mrs. Jane Kelley, Champaign, Ill., and the balance was placed in trust.

Income from the trust was to be divided between Cooke's former wife, Mrs. Roberta Cooke and a third daughter, Mrs. Willa Stiber, Hollywood, Fla.

Mrs. Simms said she had not yet determined whether she would contest the will.

Herrin Plans Improvement of Water Facilities

HERRIN, Ill. (U.P.) — A plan to improve waterworks facilities in this industrial town is underway again. The City Council Monday night authorized engineers to prepare construction bids for $426,000 in improvements. The work would take care of the city's projected needs for 20 years.

Competitive bids from bond companies will be asked. An earlier plan to issue $627,000 in bonds for water and sewer improvements was scrapped because some bonds to have been refunded could not be located.

Water and sewer rate increases approved by the council will provide an estimated $43,000 a year in added revenue.

AFL-CIO Official Says Labor Will Clean Up Ranks

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer William F. Schnitzler said today the labor movement will "finish the job" of cleaning out racketeers and crooks within its ranks.

He also asserted that organized labor has stricter ethical standards than many business concerns.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the AFL-CIO Transit Workers convention here, Schnitzler said the AFL-CIO will be stronger because of the clean-up drive.

"We don't want the guy who extorts from an employer, or who sells out his own members, or who consorts with racketeers, or who dips into the union treasury," Schnitzler said.

"And what's more we are in the process of ridding ourselves of all this vermin that has infected the trade union movement."

Schnitzler said the AFL-CIO ethical practices code contains the basic standards of morality and decency of the trade union movement and not "fancy language" or "pious platitudes."

"Either you are honest or you are crooked," he said. "There's no middle ground."

Reports on corruption charges in the Teamsters, Bakery Workers and Textile Workers unions are now being prepared by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. The unions could be ordered to clean up or get out of the AFL-CIO as a result of charges filed against them.

Schnitzler contended the labor movement is more concerned with ethical practices than some business leaders.

"Corporation officials think nothing of morals as they do everything necessary to make a fast buck," he said.

As for this country, however, he indicated that it will take about a year to produce its first intermediate ballistic missiles in quantity. They will be the 1,500-mile range types.

Parents of Conscientious Objector Claim President Rebuffed 3 Bishops

CHICAGO (U.P.) — The parents of Marine Pvt. Peter H. Green, who is seeking non-combatant status as a conscientious objector, charged today that President Eisenhower "rebuffed three Methodist church bishops" seeking to intervene in the case.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Green, Evanston, said Bishop John Wesley Lord, Boston, was "certainly denied an audience" with the President Monday at his vacation residence in Newport, R. I., or later in Washington.

Employment Drops 800,000

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Employment in the United States dropped 800,000 in August, the government reported today.

A joint statement by the Labor and Commerce departments said a 900,000 drop in the number of farm workers was the chief factor in reducing last month's total employment below the record 67,200,000 figure for July.

The big drop in farm employment was only partially offset by a slight increase in non-farm employment.

The total number employed in August was 66,400,000.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (U.P.) — A 3-year-old boy fell out of a moving car Monday and suffered serious internal injuries and his mother lost control of the auto which hit a mailbox and a fire hydrant.

Police said Mrs. Yarber tried to catch the child as he tumbled out. Another son, Robert, 4, was uninjured.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Plat Drive and 63rd Street.

Following Policy Of 'Patience,' President Says

NEWPORT, R. I. (U.P.) — President Eisenhower said today he is following a policy of "patience" in the integration dispute in Arkansas. The President was quoted by a Rhode Island Republican national committeeman who met with him.

Committeeman Bayard Rustin, one of seven Rhode Island Republican leaders who met with the President for 45 minutes, said the President "gave no indication" he might have to go beyond court proceedings.

Former gubernatorial candidate in Rhode Island Christopher Del Sesto said the meeting was mostly given over to national politics.

The President, he said, "briefed us on the situation in Arkansas and in the Middle East."

Following the meeting, Del Sesto introduced his Negro part-time chauffeur, Jero Cole, 40, Shelby, N. C., to the President. Eisenhower and Cole shook hands and posed for several minutes.

Del Sesto said Eisenhower had only briefed the group on his problems in Arkansas and had not indicated his future actions.

The President was considering "alternative procedures" he might take in event Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus defies a federal injunction restraining him from interfering with school integration in Little Rock.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty refused to say what the procedures were. However, the President, as the nation's Commander-in-Chief, has the power to use the armed forces or to federalize the Arkansas National Guard, which has refused to permit Negro children to enter the beleaguered Central High School in Little Rock.

The President, meanwhile, scheduled a round of golf this morning. He was to play about the same time the federal government was to apply in U. S. District Court for an injunction against Faubus enjoining him from thwarting integration in the Arkansas capital city.

Why be a one-paycheck family?

Are you counting on one lone hard-working paycheck to bring in all the income for your family? Maybe it deserves a helper. Lots of sensible people today are finding it's perfectly possible to get two or more paychecks... one they earn themselves and another kind their money earns for them in common stocks or bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. "Now take it easy," you're probably thinking. "I'm no big-time investor." You don't have to be. Two out of three shareholders today have incomes under $7500 a year. But when you start to invest, be sure you take a few sensible precautions.

"O.K., what's my first step?"

Make certain family expenses are paid and there's money for emergencies. Then if you've saved up some extra cash you're ready to consider several plans. You can buy stock, which makes you part-owner of a company. If it grows, your money may grow, too. And you share in any profits that may be paid as dividends. MISSING COED—Anxiety deepened for Marcia Horan, 21, a Loyola University coed, who has been missing from her home in Chicago since September 4. Martial Horan, her father, said he knew of no reason for her disappearance and feared harm had come to her. Marcia left the house to go shopping and to draw money from a bank for her college tuition. Four detectives have been assigned to search for her. (NEA Telephoto)

New Search For Clues in Torso Slaying

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Police, armed with a detailed description of articles Judith Mae Andersen, 15, was carrying the night she was slain and her body dismembered, today began a fresh search for clues in the case.

Police obtained the detailed list Monday night from the victim's mother. Authorities had been unable to question her at length because of her distraught condition.

Mrs. Andersen said that among the items her daughter carried were an opaque cigarette case given to her by a boy friend, and a dark blue wallet.

Judith Mae's nude and butchered torso was found Aug. 22 in an oil drum floating in Lake Michigan. Her head and arms were found in another oil container two days later. She had disappeared from her home Aug. 16.

Despite one of the most intensive searches in Chicago's history, police have been unable to find any trace of the victim's clothes or other personal possessions.

The widespread hunt Monday turned up a .32-caliber revolver discovered in a garbage can. Judith Mae had been shot four times in the head before her body was dismembered.

However, a ballistics check of the gun failed to match with the bullets taken from the victim.

Meanwhile, a search broadened today for a missing Loyola University coed who disappeared last Wednesday while returning home with about $250 she had withdrawn from a bank to pay her school tuition.

Police visited North Side taverns and student hangouts in the vicinity of the Loyola campus in the hopes someone might have seen the missing girl, Marcia Horan, 21.

Marcia's parents said they believed their daughter had met with foul play. They said she was happily looking forward to returning to school Sept. 23, and had no reason to leave home voluntarily.

I sat on the floor, waiting. I didn't know what to say and wasn't sure I could talk anyway. At least it looked like I wasn't to get beat up right away and I was glad.

Dan said, "Now you listen, Pike. Don't be a scared. I come to talk about what's been happenin'."

Excitement sent prickles running over my scalp. It struck me that Dan might want to deal. I nodded, swallowing hard, wishing Blanchard was there.

"You don't tell anybody what I'm a-goin' to say, Pike. You do and I'll kill you."

I nodded again.

"First, you tell me. S'posin' Blanchard had Dorsey. What'd he do?"

I wanted to say what Dan wanted me to say. Dan wasn't over smart. His mind went down one track. You try to make it go down another one and it's jump the rails. I could see the way his lips worked that he was knotted up. I had to say the right things or I might break him loose. I said, "Why, I reckon he'd just take him and go."

"And not ever come back?"

I shook my head. "Nothing to come back for."

Dan took a big sigh and his mouth came close to a smile. I'd said the right thing then, I could see. It came to me what he was worrying about. He didn't care about Blanchard or Dorsey or anybody, except Lillian. He was afraid the trouble was going to hurt his chances with Lillian. I knew he didn't have any more chance with Lillian than I did but I wasn't about to say so.

Dan said, "I can get Dorsey, give him to Blanchard. Now wait a minute." Dan's big, red-rimmed eyes nailed me down. "I ain't a-sayin' we took him, Pike."

"Course not."

"But I can get him if it's like you say. If this Blanchard just takes him with no trouble and don't ever come back."

I wondered if Dan was all alone in his move. I thought about Cole Jethroe and Eric. I took a long chance and said, "What about Eric?"

Dan's face took on quick, deep red. He came out of the chair like a shot. "Eric! Eric's got nothin' to do with it!"

At least I'd found out that Eric wasn't playing along. Then Cole wouldn't know either, I decided. This was Dan, and Dan alone, and maybe it was just the chance me and Blanchard needed.

Dan said, "Tomorrow morning, early, I'll bring him..."

Dan looked toward the doorway. I heard it, too, the creaking of wood. Owen, coming up to spoil it, I thought.

Dan took two steps back into the room. Into the doorway stepped Blanchard, carrying a shiny new rifle. Dan looked sharp at me and I could see it was spoiled.

Dan's eyes narrowed down and the hate in them laid onto Blanchard. I got up slow, smelling trouble, not wanting it to catch me hunkered down.

Blanchard's eyes ran over me. I tried to signal. Blanchard eyed Dan and leaned the rifle against a two-by-four. Blanchard said, "You'd be Dan Clement. What do you want up here?"

Dan looked at me hard, warning me not to say anything. Everything that Dan had in mind was gone. All he wanted was to get out. He knew he'd have to answer to Eric if he had trouble with Blanchard before it was time.

Dan said, "Don't want nothin' just goin'."

Dan edged toward the doorway, expecting Blanchard to move out of it. Blanchard didn't. He said, "Wait, Dan, you keep away from Pike. And from Lillian, too."

That was a little too much for Dan, right then. He felt cornered. The only thing he knew was to break out. He jumped for Blanchard.

I didn't want Blanchard to fight him. Dan was half a head taller, 50 pounds heavier and dirt mean. A man could beat himself to death on Dan, even if Dan never lifted a fist.

Blanchard saw that, too. He was a coiled snake when Dan's first swinging fist sailed over his head, knocking off his hat. Then Blanchard's shoulder hit Dan, coming on hard, square in the belly. Dan's roar split into a breath-taking grunt. Blanchard straightened and Dan carried over his shoulder, rump over teakettle. A sharp brittle noise came when Dan, pitching through the air with his arms waving, took out my wall, one whole section of two-by-four and news-paper. He hit the floor, stirring dust and chaff, surprise dropping his jaw and spreading on his face. He just sat and leaned back on one arm. He stared at Blanchard, who had turned but still crouched, waiting.

I saw the red come up in Dan's face and I was pretty sure the rest of my wall would go too. Blanchard faced Dan, crouching, his elbows bent, his hands held out from his body.

His shoulders lifted as he drew in air. I felt the power that hung like fog around him. I stopped worrying that Blanchard would beat himself to death on Dan.

Dan got up. A chunk of news paper hung on his shoulder. He tore it off, pawing at it in the mad way of a buffalo bull with a sore hoof in rutting season. He came to Blanchard the same way, crazy noise bubbling in his throat. Blanchard's shoulder caught him like before. Dan went spinning, crashing into my wall, knocking down all the two-by-fours, ending up against the north wall in a pile of tangled hay and paper.

Molotov's Job In Mongolia May Be Important

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Vyacheslav M. Molotov's new job as Soviet Russian ambassador to Outer Mongolia may prove to be an important one.

Certainly the assignment constitutes a humiliating demotion for a man who had been in the forefront of Russian leadership for 40 years.

It has been suggested that perhaps Communist Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev was indulging his heavy sense of humor by sending Molotov to the remote Asian Soviet satellite country.

But it does happen that Outer Mongolia is becoming an area of rivalry between Russia and Communist China.

It happens also that at the same time Molotov's appointment was announced the Soviet government closed 120,000 square miles of territory in the same part of central Asia to foreign travel.

There is also the fact that for several years Molotov was the Kremlin's master mind on Far Eastern affairs.

In one of Molotov's many changes in official status, he was "relieved" of the post of foreign minister in 1949. He remained a vice premier in the government.

Not long afterward, it was reported that Molotov had been relieved of administrative duties so he could concentrate on the Far East.

It probably was not a coincidence that at this time Russia started to cook up the Korean War which opened in 1950 when the North Korean Communists, Russian-trained, Russian-armed and Russian-directed, invaded South Korea.

The Korean War was not much of a success for the Russians. They had to get the Chinese Communists to intervene after Gen. Douglas MacArthur smashed the North Korean army to pieces.

The result of that was that the Chinese Reds, not the Russians, are now the controlling influence in North Korea.

Outer Mongolia for several centuries was under the nominal rule of China. The Russian Communists moved in there after World War I. In 1924, Outer Mongolia was made a "people's republic" and a Soviet satellite.

There have been plain indications that the Chinese communists do not intend to leave the Russians in undisputed control of Outer Mongolia forever. Among other things, they have started to move "laborers" into the country. These laborers actually are colonists.

If the Russians have decided to strengthen their position in outer Mongolia, they could not have picked a better man than Molotov for the job.

Singer Pat Boone to Carry Heaviest Load on Fall TV

By WILLIAM EWALD

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Pat Boone, a singer who is hotter than Elvis Presley's guitar, will carry the heaviest load in TV this fall—one half hour on ABC and 18 hours at Columbia University.

Boone (his legit first name is Eugene), 23, hopes to complete his schooling this January with a B. S. in speech. What's more, if his mental sugars hold out, he'll wind up with an "A" average and a Phi Beta Kappa trinket.

The owner of six gold records, Boone, a Jacksonville, Fla., boy by way of Nashville, isn't fretting about the additional load he'll have to tote on TV. "I'm not going to have a high-pressure show," he said as he munched on a peach. "We'll probably have one guest each week and we'll just build a real relaxed show around the two of us."

However, landing guests for a TV show is a major problem, Pat confessed. One way out is "swaps"—so far Boone has arranged to appear on the shows of Dinah Shore, Bob Hope and Gale Storm in return for their appearances on his opus.

"Actually, there are only a handful of really big names anyway who both add to a show and attract a wide audience," said Boone. "You can almost count them on one hand—Elvis Presley, Harry Belafonte, Frank Sinatra and Perry Como."

"But you've got to pay fantastic prices to get them. And I just can't afford that sort of thing week after week. In fact, no one can."

"As for non-performing stars, well, I like watching them on other shows like Steve Allen or Perry Como. But I think you have to admit that most of the time stars don't add much to a show."

No Showcase
"Anyway, I've got a feeling that people will be tuning into the 'Pat Boone Show' because they want to see Pat Boone and not because they want to see Clark Gable. I don't mean to sound conceited by that—it's just that I don't think your own show should be a showcase for other people."

Boone, who has confined his TV activities to guest shots since leaving the Arthur Godfrey stable, isn't worried about over-exposure this fall.

"There are two viewpoints about exposure—Bing Crosby's and Frank Sinatra's," said Boone. "Crosby wrote me a letter a while back in which he told me not to over-expose myself, to be careful and selective to insure my longevity in the business."

"But I understand Sinatra says it doesn't matter how long you're on the air as long as you do a good job. He says people will watch you 24 hours a day if they like you."

"Well, I hope to strike a happy medium, but I kind of feel a little like Sinatra. I don't consider myself a great entertainer, but I believe as long as you do your job well, the public will keep welcoming you."

In Memory of Donald Ray Black

Who lost his life in an automobile accident 2 years ago today, September 10th, in Pontiac, Michigan.

When evening shadows fall, And I am all alone, My heart is breaking And I am wishing You could come home to me. They took the sparkle from his eyes, Along with the vivid blue, And placed a bright Star in the skies To shine on me and you.

He was too pure on earth to stay, So early meant for Heaven. Gone is my angel I loved so dear, Silent is the voice I loved to hear. Sad but true, I've so often wondered why, The best always the first to die. He said goodbye to none For heaven's gates were opened wide, And a loving voice said, "Come home."

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

The Carmi Bulldogs are pointing to taking the championship of the North Egypt conference in their first year as a member of the loop.

Previously a seven-school conference, the membership is in the Carmi area and the Bulldogs have met most of the league members in non-conference games over the years. During the last four seasons Carmi won 11, lost two and tied three against NE members.

If the Bulldogs can continue that percentage of winning this year the conference trophy could easily rest in the Carmi case.

Probably the biggest football squad, numerically speaking, in the history of the Eldorado high school, is working out daily, using two fields.

Coach Al Adams states equipment has been issued to 95 candidates, including 42 freshmen.

Noting that several of the candidates were light weights, Adams said apparently the small boys had been encouraged to report after the great success enjoyed by Eldorado in the 1956 season.

Last year, with "watch charm" size guards, Eldorado came up with a fine 8-1 season. The guards in particular were small and proved that a little guy, with lots of desire, can play winning football. Now a whole lot of little guys are battling for recognition at ETHS.

Among the lettermen expected to be back for another year at Eldorado was Mike McMahon, one of the bigger players on the squad. McMahon, as a sophomore was about 6-1 and 185, and Adams had him tabbed as an all-stater. However he is attending school in Wyoming this year. Adams' loss is someone's gain.

Ron Avery, West Frankfort high school football and basketball star, is attending Rolla School of Mines, Mo., on an athletic scholarship.

Avery was a football end and cage guard during his high school days. He is listed as a guard on the Rolla grid squad.

Francis Florian, 215-pound speedster at West Frankfort, is passing up football for cross country running this fall. Florian is one of the top basketball players in southern Illinois and apparently is making sure he will be in top condition for his favorite sport.

Christopher high school, with a losing-7 losses and three wins—season in 1956, has a small squad out this year and prospects aren't good to improve over the year ago record.

Only 30 candidates reported at the start of the practice season and injuries and dropouts have reduced the number to 23 boys.

Injury, ineligibility, moving away—those are more or less common ways for a coach to lose football lettermen.

But Sesser coach Gordon Herron can probably claim the most unusual way of all to lose a couple of experienced backfield performers.

It is reported Halfback Howard Bates and Fullback Richard Eckels of Sesser are touring the continent with championship bird dogs appearing in field trials both in the United States and Canada and haven't returned to school as yet.

Might say a part of the Sesser backfield "has gone to the dogs."

The only wooden shoe factory in the United States is located at Holland, Mich.

Frick Announces Starting, Playing Dates for Series

NEW YORK (AP) — Information on the 1957 World Series, as announced by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick after a meeting Monday with the interested teams:

Starting date—Wed. Oct. 2, unless a best-of-three playoff for National League pennant forces a delay until Thurs., Oct. 3.

Playing dates — Consecutive dates if two east teams (Yankees-Dodgers) or two west teams (White Sox-Braves or White Sox-Cards) play; day off for travel after 2nd and 5th games if it's an East-West (Yankees-Braves or Yankees-Cards or White Sox-Dodgers) series.

Games—First two in park of American League team; 3rd, 4th, 5th (if necessary) in National League park; 6th, 7th in American League park.

Ticket prices — Same as last year: Box seats $10, reserved grandstand $7; standing room $4; bleachers $2; plus tax. Frick rejected idea of raising prices.

Ticket printing — Frick refused to grant any team permission to start printing tickets yet.

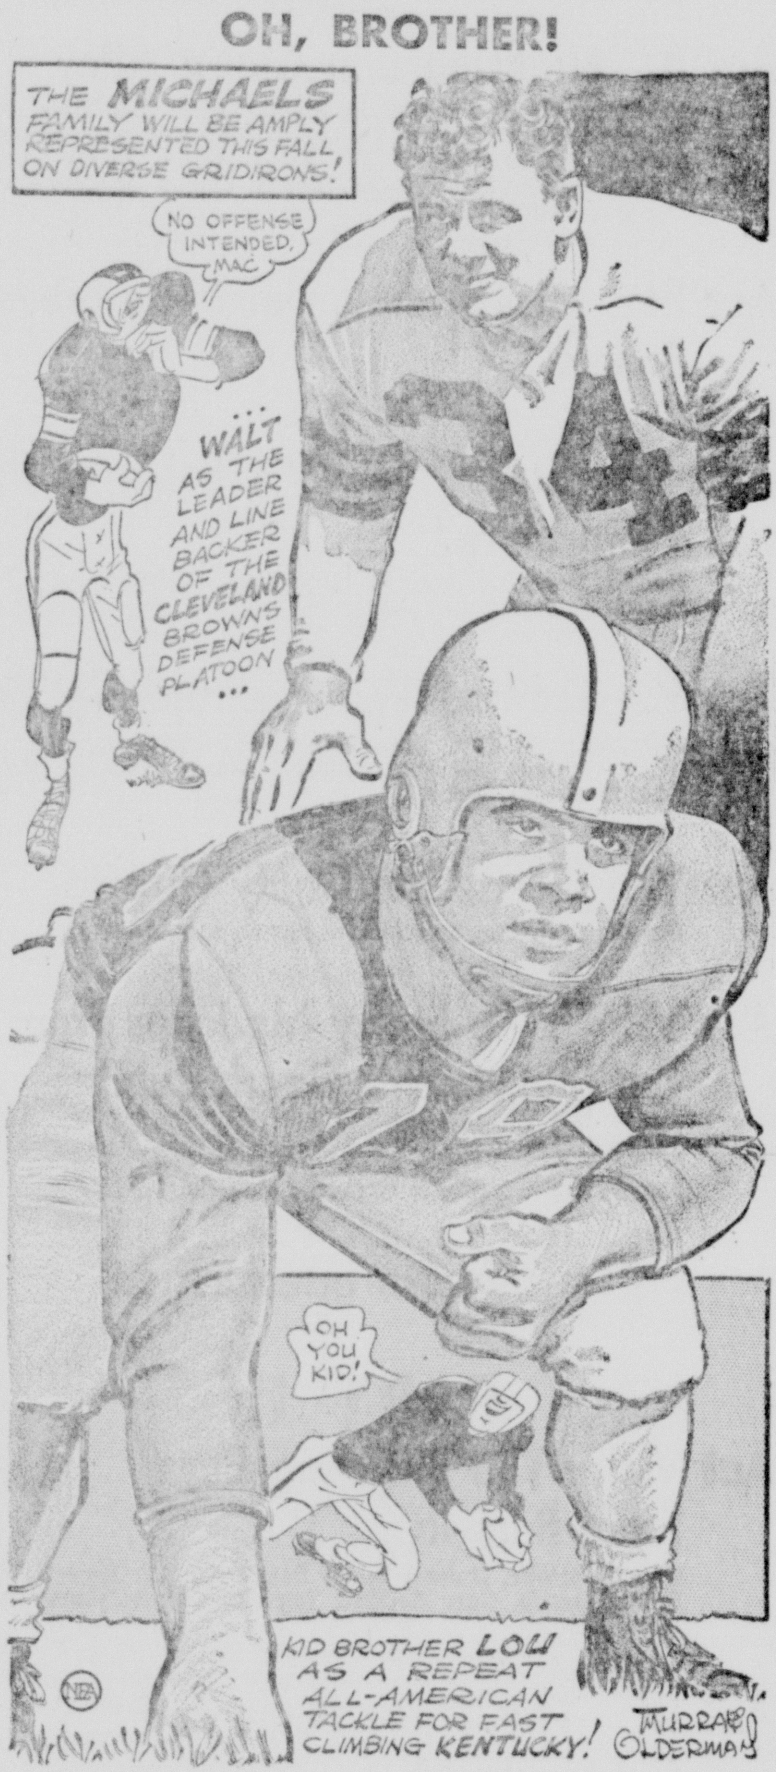

In other action, Frick rejected a request by the Braves they be permitted to sell bleacher seats in strips of three like reserved seats and ruled teams could travel by plane from one site to another if they leave the night of the game just finished, or early the next morning, to allow time for a switch to trains if the flight is cancelled.

Although nine teams still are in the running for the two pennants, only five were represented at Monday's meeting in Frick's office. They were the Yankees, White Sox, Braves, Cardinals, and Dodgers.

Derby Champion Needles Is Retired to Stud

NEW YORK (AP) — Needles, the 1956 Kentucky Derby champion who has been out of action since April 6 because of tendon trouble in his front left knee, has been officially retired to stud.

Trainer Hugh Fountaine announced the end of Needles' racing career at Belmont Park Monday. The Florida-bred 4-year-old finished with a total of $600,355 in earnings, winning 11 of his 21 starts with three seconds and three thirds.

Yankees Acquire Outfielder Bobby Del Greco from Cubs as Pennant Insurance

By United Press

The Yankees never take any chances, so even with a fat 5 1/2-game lead and Mickey Mantle back in uniform, they bought a bit of added pennant insurance today by acquiring outfielder Bobby Del Greco from the Chicago Cubs.

Mantle, feeling "much better" after a four-day stay in the hospital because of shin splints, was given the green light to play against Cleveland tonight if he wants and he indicated he would. He still trails ailing Ted Williams in the fight for the batting crown, .369 to .376.

Although Hank Bauer, recovering from a broken bone in his right thumb, also may be ready to face the Indians, the Yankees felt they could use another experienced outfielder for the stretch run. Hence, the purchase of the 24-year-old Del Greco from the Cubs.

The chunky, right-handed hitting outfielder spent most of the current season with Montreal of the International League, from where the Cubs recalled him Monday. He had a .278 batting average that included seven home runs in 118 games with the Royals.

Shortly after the Cubs brought him up, the Yankees offered an unspecified sum of cash plus a player to be delivered next year and the deal was made.

"Worst Deal" Recalled
Del Greco may be remembered as one of the central figures in what General Manager Frank Lane calls "the worst deal" he ever made. Lane and Cardinal manager Fred Hutchinson personally scouted Del Greco one day while he still was with Pittsburgh and saw him connect with two homers.

The Cardinal pair were so favorably impressed that they dealt off Bill Virdon to the Pirates in exchange for Del Greco, May 16, 1956. But Del Greco failed to hit for the Cards and they traded him to the Cubs for outfielder Jim King last April. Shortly afterward, the Cubs sent him down.

"He's young, though, and he could help us the next few weeks," explained a Yankee spokesman.

In any case, the Yankees, with 16 games remaining, take on the western invaders for the last time this season. Right-hander Bob Turley, the world champs' most consistent pitcher recently, will face southpaw Don Mossi of the Tribe tonight.

After tonight's game and one Wednesday with Cleveland, the Yanks will have a first-hand opportunity to widen their lead against the second-place Chicago

White Sox, whom they meet Friday and Saturday.

Casey Stengel said lefty Bobby Shantz will pitch against Cleveland Wednesday and that it will be Whitey Ford and Tom Sturdivant against the White Sox. Billy Pierce and Dick Donovan are Al Lopez' nominees to go against the Yankees.

Over in the National League, where the Milwaukee Braves also have a 5 1/2-game lead, they face the happy prospect of playing 15 of their 18 remaining games at home.

Pittsburgh supplies Milwaukee's opposition tonight, with rookie Whammy Douglas of the Pirates slated to face Lew Burdette.

The second-place Cardinals, at home against the Phillies, will send Sam Jones against Harvey Haddix, while the third-place Dodgers, seven games back but still hoping for a miracle, have nominated left-handed Sandy Koufax to oppose Don Elston of the Cubs at Chicago.

The Giants are at Cincinnati in the other scheduled NL game.

No major league games were played Monday.
